Both students have each made impressive contributions to their respective schools and communities, as can be seen from their personal citations.

REMEMBRANCE DAY Thursday 11 November 2022

Remembrance Day ceremonies and commemorative events were held across the State to honour the fallen. Modbury High School once again held a moving and respectful Remembrance Day assembly – Air Force Cadets from No 604 Squadron (Hampstead Barracks) honoured a long-standing commitment to the school and again provided a Catafalque Party, Honour Guard and Flag Orderly.

The Catafalque Party carried innocuous .303" SMLE rifles representative of the two world wars and the post-WW2 operations in Malaya and Malaysia. Their dress, bearing and drill was impeccable.

We will remember them . . .

Coronation Medals

A Brief History, Part 5

This year we marked the 70th anniversary of the day in 1952 when Princess Elizabeth, as heir presumptive, acceded to the throne as Queen Elizabeth II, the fourth monarch of the House of Windsor.

Queen Elizabeth became Head of the Commonwealth and Queen Regnant of seven independent Commonwealth countries (the UK, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Pakistan and Ceylon).

Medals have long been awarded by a sovereign as a personal souvenir at the time of their coronation or on the jubilee of their accession to the throne.

This tradition dates from the coronation of King Edward VI in 1547, when the first official medals to commemorate the coronation of a British sovereign were distributed. King William IV released such medals for his coronation in 1831, as also did Queen Victoria in 1838.

These early medals (also referred to as medallions, medallets or commemorative coins) were simple souvenirs, and were not intended for wear.

King Edward VII Police Coronation Medal (1902)

The Prince of Wales acceded to the throne on 22 January 1901 as Edward VII, King of the United Kingdom and the British Dominions and Emperor of India – the first British monarch of the House of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha (his father's line).

An official medal was struck to mark the coronation of King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra on 9 August 1902, while a distinct medal was awarded in gold to Lord Mayors and Lord Provosts from across the United Kingdom, and in silver to Mayors and Provosts.

The Coronation ceremony made major demands on the Metropolitan Police, with 512 police pensioners being recalled for duty. Extra pay, leave and a bespoke Coronation Medal were granted to all serving officers.

This Police Coronation Medal was awarded in silver or bronze according to the rank of the recipient – there were 67 silver and 19,885 bronze medals awarded.

The medal was awarded to all serving officers of the Metropolitan Police and City of London Police, as well as firemen and members of ambulance units on duty in London during the Royal procession and coronation ceremony.

This is the King Edward VII Police Coronation Medal (obverse and reverse) awarded to PC565 Police Constable Henry Wells (1868-1922) of 'A' Division (Westminster) of the Metropolitan Police, Warrant Number 78135: such medals in bronze were awarded to members of the Metropolitan Police below the rank of Superintendent.
