'CELEBRATION OF AUSTRALIA DAY' LUNCHEON

Saturday 18 January 2025

We held our annual 'Celebration of Australia Day' Luncheon at a new venue – Jarmer's Kitchen in Bowden. Our guest speaker was George Belperio OAM, accompanied by his wife Josie. George was awarded the Medal of the Order of Australia last year, "For service to the Italian community of South Australia" (AD24).

In his address, "Australia: My Lucky Country", George reflected on his journey from arriving in Australia to his success in business (Fasta Pasta), which gave him the opportunity for his extensive charity work.

George is the Co-Founder and Director of Fasta Pasta (since 1984). He has been involved in Variety SA for 25 years, as Event Chair for three Bashes (2019-22) and as an Event Sponsor, and voluntarily catering for large events in rural Australia.

His community involvements have included Vice-President, Board Member and Honorary Life Member of Radio Italiana 531, and member of the SA Italian Association. He is a long-time member of, and has assisted, community clubs like the Campagnia Club and the San Giorgio La Molarra Community Centre over the last five decades.

He also served for six years as Deputy Chair of the SA Committee of the Defence Reserves Support Council.

The Order of Australia Association, South Australia Branch

Here are some brief excerpts from George's address:

I was born in post-war Italy in 1954.

As a child I had serious health problems, and the doctor in the small village where we lived told my mum there wasn't anything he could do about it.

So, we left to join my dad in Australia, who had come here 3 years earlier to find work, as there weren't any opportunities for him in the village.

Italy was my mother and Australia was my father.

My mother was level-headed. She often reminded me that in Italy after the war, you would work hard for long hours every day just to be able to eat.

Dad was a bit of an entrepreneur, and a bit of a dreamer. But he was always prepared to have a go. Nobody could tell him something was not doable.

I believe I got a little bit of the best of both of them passed down to me. Similar to the combination of the best bits of Australian and Italian culture. I decided that I would try to embrace the best of both cultures.

When was the first Australia Day?

Did you know – up until 1935, the date of 26 January was celebrated as 'Foundation Day', and only in New South Wales.

Other dates of significance are:

9 July 1900: After being passed by the British Parliament, the Commonwealth of Australia Constitution Act was approved by Queen Victoria when she signed the Royal Commission of Assent.

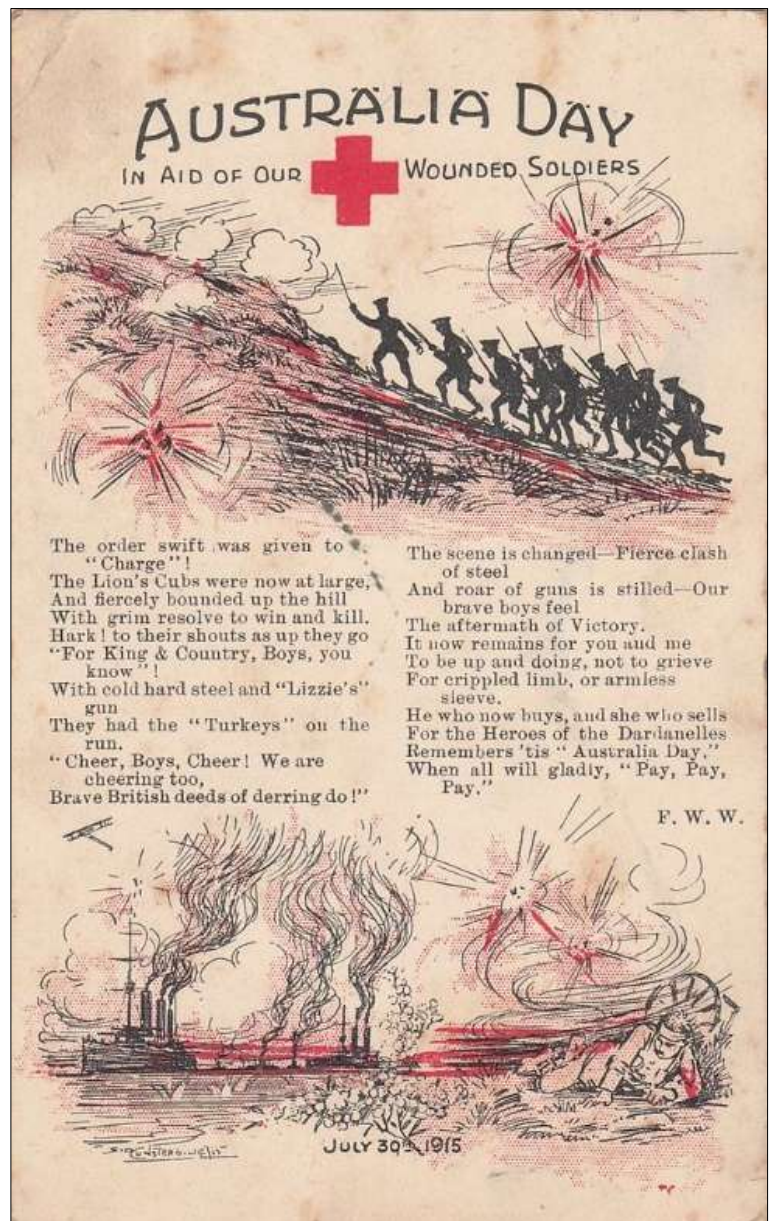

1 January 1901: The Commonwealth of Australia was created as a nation when the Commonwealth of Australia Constitution Act came into force, establishing the Australian Government and giving the Australian Parliament the power to make laws on certain matters.

30 July 1915: The first national 'Australia Day' was celebrated on 30 July 1915, to honour Service personnel who went to war and were wounded or killed, on behalf of a grateful nation. The day was established on the suggestion of Mrs Ellen Wharton-Kirke, a mother of four Servicemen who thought of the idea of a national day with the specific aim of raising funds for soldiers who had been wounded at Gallipoli – 'the Heroes of the Dardanelles'.

The Day became part of a fundraising campaign for Australian troops serving in the war, to help improve the general living conditions of the soldiers and to enable the Red Cross and other organisations such as the South Australians Soldiers' Fund to provide more comfort and care for injured and ill Australian soldiers.

The government set the date as 30 July, and the term 'Australia Day' was coined to stir up patriotic feelings.

On this day marches, fairs, auctions and performances were organised all over Australia to raise funds for the troops. Commemorative items such as ribbons, handkerchiefs and badges were made and sold in the streets. The messages written on these objects appealed to Australian patriotic sentiment and the development of a strong national identity.

A patriotic postcard celebrating the first 'Australia Day', 30 July 1915.

Australia Day 1915 was a success, and continued to support the troops fighting on the frontline and the wounded and ill who had returned home – repeated on 28 July 1916, 27 July 1917, and 26 July 1918.

It was not until 1935 that Australia Day became Australia's national holiday, celebrated on 26 January.

By 1935, all Australian states celebrated 26 January as Australia Day, except NSW who referred to it as 'Anniversary Day'. A public holiday was introduced at or around that date in all states in 1940.

It was not until 1994 that the date of 26 January for 'Australia Day' was fixed in all jurisdictions as a national public holiday.

KING'S BIRTHDAY LUNCHEON

Saturday 7 June 2025

Please join us at a luncheon celebrating the King's Birthday at Casa D'Abruzzo Molise Club in Prospect – arrival from 12 noon for a 12.30 pm start, with an engaging guest speaker.

As King of Australia, King Charles recently granted the use of a new Great Seal of Australia.

The Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet has advised that on 21 October 2024, during the Royal Visit to Australia, His Majesty King Charles III was joined by the Governor-General of Australia and the Prime Minister to authorise the use of the new Great Seal of Australia.

King Charles III signed a Royal Warrant granting the new Great Seal as the Great Seal of Australia: this will primarily be used by the Governor-General to denote approval of important documents.

The King also signed a second Royal Warrant granting a Royal Great Seal, to be used for certain purposes where the Sovereign is required to sign documents personally.

The design of the new Great Seal depicts the Coat of Arms of Australia, centred on the seal, and encircled by a laurel of wattle. The Coat of Arms was issued under Royal Warrant by George V on 19 September 1912.

The Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet records that this is the seventh Great Seal since the establishment of the Commonwealth of Australia.

> The first seal was created after the office of the Governor General was established via Letters Patent signed by Queen Victoria in 1900. The first Great Seal was authorised for use by King Edward VII in 1903 – its design featured the British Coat of Arms surrounded by the Australian state shields.

> A new Great Seal of Australia was instituted by King George V in 1912.

> New Great Seals were instituted by King George VI in 1938 and 1948.

> New Great Seals were instituted by Queen Elizabeth II in 1954 and 1973. The 1973 pattern Great Seal of Australia was ceremonially decommissioned by the Governor General on 24 October 2024.
